

1.

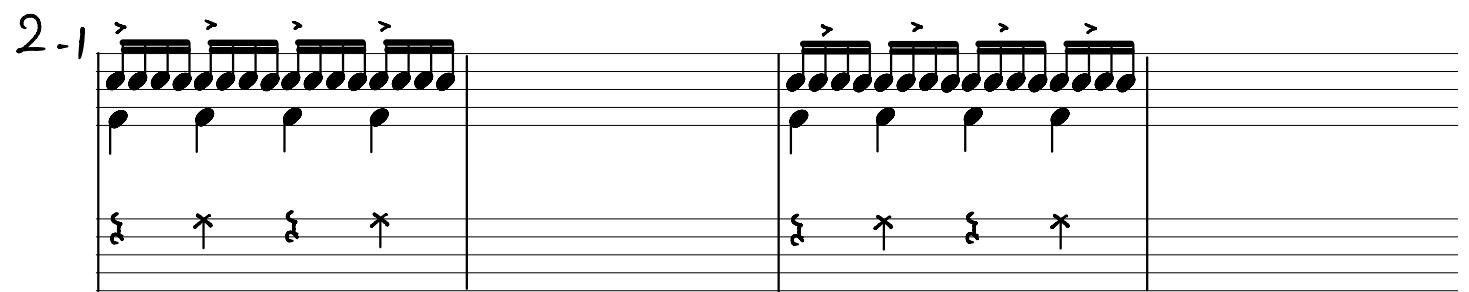

A hand drumming pattern consisting of two staves. The top staff shows six groups of sixteenth-note strokes on the right hand, each group preceded by a vertical bar with a '3' above it. The bottom staff shows six groups of eighth-note strokes on the left hand, each preceded by a vertical bar with an 'x' below it.

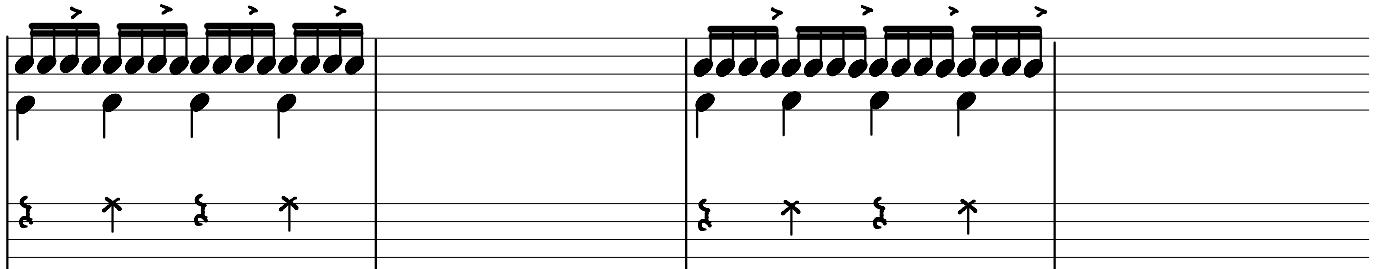

A hand drumming pattern consisting of three staves. The first two staves show sixteenth-note strokes on the right hand, with labels 'RL' and 'LR' above them respectively. The third staff shows eighth-note strokes on the left hand, with labels 'L', '3', 'R', 'L', '3' above them.

2-1

A hand drumming pattern consisting of two staves. The top staff shows sixteenth-note strokes on the right hand. The bottom staff shows eighth-note strokes on the left hand, with 'x' marks indicating specific notes.

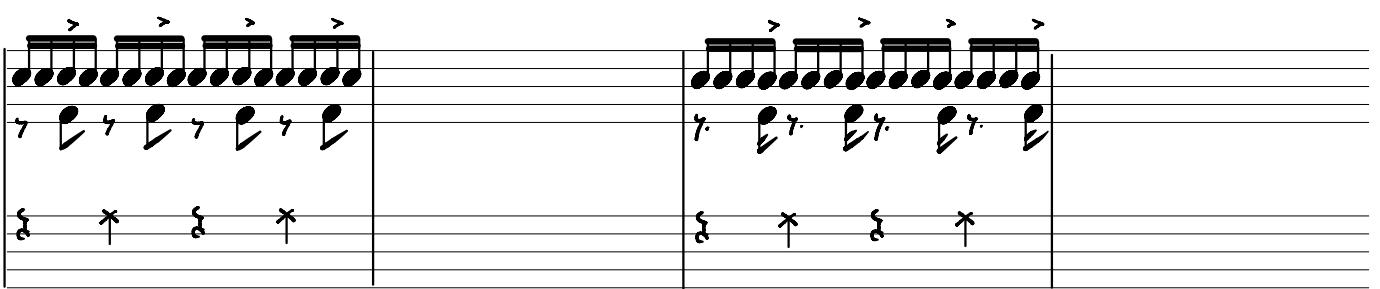

A hand drumming pattern consisting of two staves. The top staff shows sixteenth-note strokes on the right hand. The bottom staff shows eighth-note strokes on the left hand, with 'x' marks indicating specific notes.

2-2

A hand drumming pattern consisting of two staves. The top staff shows sixteenth-note strokes on the right hand. The bottom staff shows eighth-note strokes on the left hand, with 'x' marks indicating specific notes. This pattern is a variation of the one above it.

A hand drumming pattern consisting of two staves. The top staff shows sixteenth-note strokes on the right hand. The bottom staff shows eighth-note strokes on the left hand, with 'x' marks indicating specific notes. This pattern is a variation of the ones above it.